Please note that the offered desktop has the following restrictions: Only a handful of applications are pre-installed, and installing other applications is not allowed. Internet access is restricted to a few permitted web sites. Furthermore, as with any remote access, your experience may vary based on the quality of connectivity, bandwidth, and latency at your end. At the end of the 24 hours allotted to you, this desktop will self-destruct; and so please do not save anything that you intend to keep, on the desktop.
